1. How did it make you feel to hear the voices of everyday people in the beginning of the episode expressing their honest thoughts about evangelism? Which opinions did you resonate with most?
2. Alycia Wood explained how the definition of tolerance has shifted from “I disagree with what you are doing, but I’m going to tolerate it” to “I accept everything you do.” How have these ideas of tolerance impacted your idea of evangelism?
3. What stuck out to you from Ben’s story from his Facebook post? Have you experienced a similar situation? How would you have responded if you received the same comment Ben received?
4. Have you found yourself avoiding evangelism because of seeing or using poor methods in the past (“throwing the baby out with the bathwater”)? What could it look like to reconsider relevant, dignifying, holistic evangelism for today?
